What is a No Deposit Casino Bonus? In essence, a no deposit casino bonus is a marketing program that casinos online offer that provide players with small amounts of cash without requiring them to put any of their cash in their bank accounts. It is basically free money that the gambler gets without any investment from them. It is given as a reward for patronizing the casino.

There are restrictions on no bonuses for deposits. These generally depend on the online casino concerned. Most casinos only give out free money when players make real money from gaming. While the majority of online casinos do this, some would only give it out when players earn a certain amount of virtual money from gambling.

Certain casinos also offer bonus codes that do not require deposit to motivate players to be more active. The bonus would be given to players who frequently play. Slot players get the same bonus. Slot players have more chance of winning larger sums of virtual cash, as they increase their winnings while playing slots. If one plays regularly, he can literally accumulate virtual bankrolls within no time.
